BUNDLES GIVEN
TO CHILDREN
Smelter and Cement Plant
Give Christmas Cheer to Employees' Children.

All children of smelter and cement plant employees were remembered by the two big corporations Friday afternoon, when Christmas bundles containing clothing, underwear, candy, toys and fruits were distributed at the smelter hospital.

The Christmas bundles were paid for by a fund of $600 voted by the officials of the El Paso Smelter and Refining company and the Southwestern Portland Cement company. The bundles were prepared by employees and officials of the two companies and filled all of the spare rooms at the smelter hospital.

The bundles contained warm clothing, underwear, stockings, caps, mittens, shoes and shirts, in addition to the fruits and candies. A long line of waiting children lined up before the hospital at noon and stood in line until 2 o'clock when the bundles were distributed by the officials of the companies.

A Christmas tree for the patients at the smelter hospital was also set up Friday afternoon and presents distributed to the inmates.

With Weird Pageantry and
In Quaint Garb, South Sea
Islanders Aid the British

Sava, Fiji Islands, Dec. 24.—A remarkable display of native South Sea pageantry was seen in this town, the capital of the British crown colony of the South Sea Islands, when the British army.

The British army, composed of British, Fijian, Chinese and Hindus, together with whites, were in the parade. A thousand Fijians were dressed in the old days of the tribal wars. Each man had his face blackened and he carried a war club or other native weapon. The costume consisted of a kilt of green and yellow grass interwoven with tape, the native cloth, and a headband.
